Arc Flash Safety And NEC A Maintenance and Engineering Training Seminar

Industrial Training, Inc., provides expert, licensed electricians to deliver an Arc Flash Seminar designed for commercial and industrial application. In order to offer a greater return on your training investment, our instructor presents each topic in an organized format with specific objectives in mind. A typical course outline for this seminar is as follows:

- NFPA 70E
 - Introduction
 - Review of Article 130
 - Use of Index
 - 130.1 Justification for Work
 - 130.1A Energized Electrical Work Permit
 - 130.2 Approach Boundaries
 - 130.4 Test Instruments and Equipment
 - 130.5 Work on or near Uninsulated Overhead Lines
 - 130.6 Other Precautions for Personnel Activities
 - 130.7 Personal and Other Protective Equipment
- Electrical Safety Program Book Review
- NEC Review
 - Use of Index
 - Basic Calculations

What sets Industrial Training, Inc. apart from other training options?

- Training is geared toward individual capability.
- Training ranges from the basics for the beginner, to advanced training to aid your current technicians in working with new assets and technologies.
- Our goal is to give your maintenance personnel the training they need to troubleshoot and maintain the equipment to reduce costly downtime.
- We wrap up the world-class training with a quiz to assess effectiveness.

While “loaners” will be available for class, attendees may bring their own current (2004) NFPA 70E, The Electrical Safety Program Book, and 2005 NEC Book. Attendees also have the option of purchasing these books at time of registration.

On-Site Option
